MAKE US VAIN

SOME COMPLIMENTS FOR THE ANNIVERSARY NUMBER OF THE EVENING NEWS

We wish to sincerely compliment you upon the fall anniversary number of the Glendale Evening News, copy of which reached us yesterday, and which we have looked through carefully with a great deal of pleasure.

This is one of the finest examples of a special newspaper edition that we have ever seen, and we are proud of the fact that our paper was used in it.

We receive here in the office, we believe, copies of almost every special edition of this kind that is brought out in Southern California and the Southwest, and we cannot remember of any similar publication that has brought forth the favorable comment amongst our people in the office that your edition has.

We presume you have been told all this before, but we wish to add our word of praise.

With kindest regards and best wishes for the continued success and prosperity of the Evening News, we are sincerely yours,

BLAKE, MOFFITT & TOWNE.
Per T. M. Dentison.

An advance copy of the anniversary number of our esteemed contemporary, the Evening News, has, through the courtesy of Editor Cowan, reached this office. It is a splendid exposition of typographic art and its profusely illustrated pages carry a number of articles of more than passing interest, and it merits an extensive circulation. It offers a splendid medium for informing friends in the East of the beauties and advantages offered by Glendale. We extend our most sincere congratulations to Editor Cowan on his artistic production.—Glendale Press.

We are in receipt of a copy of the special edition just issued by the Glendale Evening News, and say that it is one of the finest numbers of its kind that it has ever been our privilege to see. From literary and mechanical standpoints it is an excellent piece of work, and if properly distributed through the eastern states, it will doubtless do much toward boosting not only Glendale, but Tropic as well.—Tropic Sentinel.

A. T. Cowan, publisher of the Glendale Evening News, has issued an unusually creditable special edition of that newspaper in honor of "newspaper day," and to show the remarkable display of business and home development made in that section. The publication is a fine illustration of the printers' and engravers' art and makes a fine showing for Glendale. We congratulate Mr. Cowan on his special edition.—Burbank Review.

The Glendale Evening News has certainly done itself proud in the magnificent 68-page de luxe edition of that paper just issued as an anniversary edition. The edition is profusely illustrated and makes a splendid showing for the thriving, growing foothill city. Editor Cowan is a thorough newspaper man and gives to the people of Glendale the publicity that helps to make the city better known from day to day. The citizenship should see to it that every available copy of The News anniversary number finds a way to home-seekers. It will prove a great drawing card for that section of Los Angeles county.—Alhambra Advocate.

Perhaps the most complete and attractive anniversary number ever issued by any newspaper outside of Los Angeles was the one sent out October 1st by the Glendale Evening News. It contained sixty-four pages and cover, the regulation six-column size, profusely illustrated with half-tones of local residences and prominent business men. Descriptive matter pertaining to the rapid development of this magic city with statistical data of the city's enterprises, makes it the best piece of local advertising ever published for circulation throughout the East. It is hoped that the good people of Glendale will appreciate this issue to the extent that they will patronize The News publisher liberally and send the paper to their friends "back home." Single copies sell for 25c each.—Monte Vista Sun.

October 1 was observed as newspaper day by many of the publishers of Southern California with special editions that will surely result in bringing new citizens to the state, if there is any advantage at all in high-class advertising. Among one of the very interesting special editions to reach The Citizen desk was that of the Glendale Evening News. This edition was without doubt equal, if

VOTERS, TURN IT DOWN

THAT BONE OF CONTENTION—
THE EIGHT-HOUR LAW—AS
C. BERGER SEES IT

Last Friday evening there gathered at the high school auditorium a goodly gathering of the citizens of Glendale to listen to a supposed debate, pro and con, of the proposed eight-hour law to be voted on in the coming election in this state. As far as the writer could notice, there was nothing put before the people at that time but what all are familiar with. Mr. Williams of Los Angeles, of the affirmative, put forth his views (with one or two exceptions) in a clear and, to any but a self-thinking person, forceful manner. While Mr. Beldin of Glendale (negative) failed to grasp the situation sufficiently to answer in kind.

The debate (beg pardon, I might say the socialistic wrangle) was so one-sided, owing to the negative champion's mind being so engrossed with a four-hour-day instead of an eight-hour law, and repeated attempts at (beside the question) oratory, that by a good many the same was looked upon as somewhat of a farce.

But I firmly believe that if Mr. Williams could have been induced to explain one vital point in his argument, a great many gathered at the time would have left satisfied, who were otherwise disappointed, viz:

Mr. Williams in his argument laid great stress on the fact that a paid employee will do the same amount of work in eight hours he formerly did in ten. I say "fact," because he produced statistics to prove same and we will admit, for the sake of argument if nothing else, the same is true. Now Williams claims that by reducing the hours of all labor by law to eight, the remaining time can be divided and thus all the idle may be supplied with work. When at the same time he proves to us that the man working eight hours will do the same amount of work he formerly did in ten. (Very consistent, don't you think?) I would like to have Mr. Williams through the columns of The News, explain under the circumstances where there would be anything left for the idle any more than there is at present.

Among other instances cited was the fact that the same man in one department of Henry Ford's great automobile factory were turning out 105 motors per day of eight hours, as against 86 motors for the same men formerly working longer hours. Does that sound like giving more employment to more men? To the unprejudiced the contrary would seem to be the case. We could with Mr. Williams give a great many of just such instances proving that his views are absolutely wrong.

Do we not have an eight-hour schedule in nearly all trades now, with more coming? Do we not have a woman's eight-hour law now? A grand thing! If it is necessary to legislate further in this matter, can it not be taken up in the same manner as the law regulating the working hours for women? Not to put the iron heel of the law on all the laborers and declare that thou shalt not work only so long under penalty of someone being brought up before a police court or worse. At the polls on Nov. 3 we firmly believe the people of California will stand on their rights and emphatically turn down such an ignominious measure.

The Young Campaigners will meet tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 3:45 at the Intermediate school. No one who is too young to vote is too old to belong to this organization.

not superior, to anything of its kind ever attempted in Southern California. There were 64 pages, besides the cover, all highly illustrated with views showing Glendale's progress and prosperity, with descriptive matter to tell the balance of the story.—Hollywood Citizen.

The Glendale Evening News has issued a beautifully printed and finely illustrated anniversary number of sixty-four pages, wherein are exploited all the advantages and charms of the pretty foothill city. We are pleased to notice an article on the Holy Family church, with pictures of the edifice and Glendale's worthy pastor, Rev. James S. O'Neill.—The Tidings, a Catholic church paper.

The Glendale Evening News comes to us this week in the form of a sixty-four page anniversary number, beautifully printed and illustrated, and is a fine specimen of the art preservative. We congratulate brother Cowan and his able staff upon the success of their undertaking. Glendale is one of our many booming cities of Southern California, and The News of that city is doing its share in the good work.—Artesia News.

POLITICS IN TROPICO

CANDIDATES MAKE FRIENDS AT
MEETING OF N. P. BANKS
POST, G. A. R.

The first political meeting of this campaign for the city of Tropic was held at G. A. R. hall Saturday afternoon. The meeting followed the semi-monthly session of N. P. Banks Post and was attended by a large number of the veterans and ladies of the Corps. The hall was decorated in ferns and late autumn blossoms, while a large jardiniere containing fragrant magnolia blossoms adorned the speakers' desk. Many flags were arranged throughout the hall and the effect was truly a most pleasing one. The meeting resolved itself into a patriotic one, as the sight of so many grizzled war veterans aroused the patriotism of each of the speakers. J. W. Ford, chief deputy district attorney, who is a Spanish war veteran, paid a glowing tribute to the valor of the boys of '61. Mr. Ford, who is a candidate for district attorney, was enthusiastically received and made so favorable an impression that each one present pledged to support Mr. Ford at the November election. At the conclusion of Mr. Ford's talk, he left for Azusa, where he later addressed a large audience. Mr. Hammel, candidate for re-election as sheriff, gave one of his splendid talks. Mr. Hammel is so well and favorably known in Tropic that merely his cheery smile and warm handclasp is sufficient to insure his election this November. Each of the following judges made ten minute speeches and were most favorably received: Judge Grant Jackson and Judge Willis I. Morrison and Elmer McDowell are Sons of Veterans, and each in his patriotic speech appealed to the loyalty of all veterans present. Judge Louis Myers and Judge Chas. Monroe were cordially received and in their brief talks made most favorable impressions. H. A. Wishard spoke on the 47th amendment, explaining in detail the proposed question to be voted upon at the coming election. Judge George C. Melrose, who is a winner with the members of N. P. Banks Post and Corps, as well as with the citizens of Tropic, made a splendid talk, winning the plaudits of all. Mrs. Georgia P. Bullock closed the meeting with a splendid talk on the qualifications of the judges who were present and who had each given a talk. An informal reception followed the meeting.

DISCUSS AMENDMENTS

The Tropic Thursday Afternoon club will meet in Knights of Pythias hall on San Fernando road Thursday afternoon, when the subject for the afternoon will be "Propositions to be Voted on November 3." The program will be under the direction of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman of legislation of the club. Dr. Russell has secured Mrs. James Scherffe, president of the Outlook Club of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Seward Simons, president of the Woman's Legislative Council, and chairman of the legislative section of the Los Angeles District Federation. This will be an open meeting and guests will be welcome to hear these prominent club women discuss and explain some of the most important amendments to be voted on November 3rd.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The morning sermon was from the Bible story of Amaziah, Judah's king, who gave a hundred talents in silver for 100,000 fighting men of Israel, and, when commanded by the Lord to not use them, acquiesced, but said, "But what of the talents of silver?" Just so, said the pastor, at the present time, when the Lord commands us to do away with the awful liquor traffic, some of the sordid ones say, "But what of the great sums of money invested in the business?"

God blesses the man who does his duty at whatever cost to himself. In the evening, as the advertised speaker, Elder J. N. Wright failed to appear, the pastor made a very interesting impromptu talk on the parables of the master describing the final judgment. Baptismal services followed the sermon.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

England should send Mrs. Pankhurst to the front.

The more one thinks of war, the less one thinks of it.

The Red Cross flag appears to be the only one of real Christian charity. Let us hope for the time when war will be decided by ballots, rather than by bullets.

In war, presence of mind is the next best thing to absence of body.

When a married man leaves for his vacation, his friends generally ask: "Is your wife going along or is it to be a pleasure trip?"

JOHNSON-ESHLEMAN

NON-PARTISAN CLUB OFFERS ARGUMENTS FOR ELECTING PROGRESSIVE GOVERNOR

There was a good attendance at the Johnson-Eshleman Non-Partisan club meeting in the high school auditorium on Saturday evening, and the program proved of great interest to all.

Attorney W. E. Evans, president of the club, was the presiding officer and both Mr. Evans and Attorney Albert D. Pearce, the secretary, made speeches.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Frank Arnold and Mr. Spencer Robinson, both of whom are exceptional artists and added greatly to the evening's enjoyment.

The principal address of the evening was given by Mr. Samuel Parker of Glendale, a man who has interested himself in politics for the past sixty-five years. Mr. Parker is just as much interested in the questions of the day and just as much alive on public questions as he was when he voted for Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Parker was a life-long Republican, but he believes there is something higher and of more importance than party.

He expressed himself as seeing the importance of keeping abreast of the times politically. He is a hearty supporter of Governor Johnson because he does not bow to the corporations or money power. Mr. Parker thinks the condition of the old parties is somewhat similar to the boy who started for the mill with a bag of meal and placed a stone in the sack to balance it on the horse's back. A man whom he met on the road explained to him that he should have divided the meal in each end of the sack and not burdened the horse with stone. The boy replied, "You can't tell me anything. My father did this way, and he knew."

Mr. Parker without previous preparation made a speech that for sound argument, direct and outspoken opinions and good delivery would have been a credit to a speaker many years his junior.

Attorney Albert D. Pearce explained very concisely why he favors Governor Johnson's principles. Mr. Pearce has favored progressive principles ever since the Chicago convention, which he attended. He is no admirer of Roosevelt, but feels that the old-line Republicans did wrong in not giving the people what they wanted.

Mayor O. A. Lane spoke briefly, saying he preferred to give his time in listening to what Attorney Evans might have to say.

Mr. Evans' talk was largely statistical, dealing with the cost of the present state administration as compared to previous ones. He said the state railroad commission under Governor Johnson has been a greater expense than formerly because the commission has been accomplishing things during the present administration. He showed clearly that the statement that Johnson's administration has been an extravagant one is false.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

The Tuesday Afternoon Club will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, 106 Orange street, tomorrow afternoon.

The executive board will be in line from 2:30 until 3:00, and the president asks especially that all members be on time.

At 3 o'clock there will be an address given by the president, which every club member should hear. After this, the picture presented by Mrs. E. C. Frank, work of the late artist, Eugene C. Frank, will be viewed.

"Near the High Bridge" at Ivanhoe is the subject of Mr. Frank's picture and it is valued at $200.

A definite report of various committees of the Fiesta proceeds will be announced.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell of the courtesy committee will assist in receiving and Mrs. H. H. Martin, chairman of the hospitality and entire corps of assistants, will serve refreshments in the pergola.

MASONS GO NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Betz left Sunday evening for San Francisco, where they will enjoy a sightseeing trip and where Mr. Betz will attend the state Masonic meeting, at which he represents Golden State lodge of Los Angeles, of which he is master.

R. C. Sternberg left Saturday evening with the same destination in view as a delegate from Unity lodge of Glendale.

Miss George Duffett of 1008 Chestnut street was a guest at a matinee party on Saturday. The play continues to be a Burbank attraction, "He Fell In Love With His Wife."

CHILD, HOPE OF RACE

NATIONAL CALL EXEMPLIFIES
SPIRIT OF THE CONGRESS OF MOTHERS

The broad, loving spirit of the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God was never more clearly expressed than in the call sent out by Mrs. Theodore W. Birney and Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst for the first National Congress of Mothers in 1897.

The appeal was to all mankind and to all womankind, regardless of creed, race or condition, to recognize that in the child lies the hope of the race, and that the republic's greatest work is to save the children.

The call recognized that we are all children of one Father, and that his love extends to each one of his children. It was a call to every mother to enlist under the banner of service to God in giving to his little ones the opportunity to develop under favorable conditions. It was the call of women who recognize religion as above any sect; who believe that the poorest and humblest child has a place and a work to do in God's scheme of the universe. Protestant, Catholic, Jew or Gentile, men and women, all were bidden to participate in the work of the Congress. Never has there been an organization where a broader spirit of tolerance and sympathy has been shown. It is the father's work. Deeply religious, absolutely non-sectarian! Surely that is the spirit that should animate an organization working for child welfare.

Hundreds and thousands of women have come into the Congress since that call. Many of them do not know of the broad spirit in which it was founded. There are still some who feel that all of God's truth is bounded by their own special creed. There are still some who do not realize that "In my Father's house are many mansions," and that in his love for his children he does not expect that all humanity will have the same views or opinions; that what helps one may not do the same for another. Love to God and to all mankind embody his two great commandments. The Congress of Mothers invites to its membership persons of every creed, offering equal advantages and privileges to all.

Mrs. Theodore W. Birney entered into the life beyond in December, 1907. No one who knew her and how deeply her heart was given to the cause of childhood, can doubt that in one of the Father's mansions her life is still given to serving the little ones. God gave her the call to awaken mothers to the sacredness of their work. As he put into the heart of Moses, and called him to do his work, so through all the ages he has worked through human agencies to give his messages to mankind. As in the days of Moses, there are many who say, "Who am I to speak unto my brethren? I am slow of speech and of a halting tongue." Now, as then, he gives the words and ability to those who forget self and with hearts open to him strive to give his message.

It is a sacred message which through the mouths of many men and women today is being given to the world. It is well that those on whom her work has fallen should think well of the holiness and greatness of its purpose, of the loving tolerance and patience which should characterize it.

The Congress is not for the privileged few. It is for all who see in the child the hope of the race, who believe that in a glorified and enlightened fatherhood and motherhood the children will rise to heights hitherto unknown.

FREE EXCURSION TO OLIVEDALE THURSDAY

Mr. Grant McCartney is spending the day in Glendale arranging for a free excursion to Olivedale Thursday, Oct. 15. Special cars to leave P. E. station in Glendale at 10 a. m. In speaking of Olivedale, Mr. McCartney says that as an investment or a homestead, Olivedale has no equal in Southern California. This property has every known improvement, is well located and is noted throughout this section for its scenic beauty.

INFORMATIVE ADVERTISING

Advertising is nothing mysterious, nothing wonderful. It is nothing but business common sense. It is, in the very last analysis, but salesmanship on paper. Just as the courteous, obliging, well-informed salesman behind the counter is an animate selling force in any business, so is the honestly written informative advertisement a mute selling force in any business—with the added value of reaching the greater part of the buying community than the animate force can hope to reach.—Jerome P. Fleishman in the Baltimore Sun.

MAREK FAVORS LAW

POINTS ON EIGHT-HOUR LAW
SUBMITTED BY FRANK A.
MAREK, GLENDALE

Congressman Mann, Republican leader, in a speech delivered in the House on December 11th, 1911, said: "If I had my way about it, I would forbid any person employing labor for more than eight hours in twenty-four. We will gradually come to that."

President William McKinley said in the year 1890: "This eight-hour legislation has been promised to the ear and broken to the hope of the laboring men of the country long enough. The trend of the nations of the world is towards a shortening of the workday; first, in the interests of health; second, in the interests of humanity; third, in the interests of the home and family."

Ira Stewart said: "Machinery is discharging laborers faster than new employments are provided. Machinery must not be stopped, and tramps must not be increased."

Commander Folger, chief of the bureau of ordinance, said: "If you could, by fiat, say that every man in the land should work but eight hours, it would be a very good thing to do. The quality of the work would compensate for the difference in hours."

Again: "The effect to get more than a certain amount of work out of a man defeats itself. If an increase in quantity, always at expense of quality. The speed of the work lessens as the day advances."

Josephine Goldmark reports: "A reduction in hours has never lessened the working people's ability to compete in the markets of the world. States with shorter workdays actually manufacture their products at a lower cost than states with longer workdays."

Dr. Charles B. Steinmetz, one of the leading electrical scientists of the world, states: "The man who works in a shop eight hours a day today works longer than the man who worked twelve or fourteen hours years ago."

Samuel Gompers: "Compare any two or more countries on the face of the globe; compare any two states in the United States; compare any two cities in any one or more states; compare any two industries in any one city; yes, compare any two establishments of a similar industry in any one city, and there is no departure from this rule, that the longer the hours of daily labor, the lower the wages, and vice versa."

Professor Clark of Columbia university sums up the question for the employer of labor very truthfully in these words: "If you want to get a man to work for you one day, and one day only, and secure the greatest possible amount of work which he is capable of performing, you must make him work twenty-four hours; if you would have him work a week, it will be necessary to reduce the time to twenty hours a day; if you want him to work for a month, a still further reduction to eighteen hours a day; for the year, fifteen hours a day will do; for several years, ten hours; but if you wish to get the most out of a man for a working lifetime, you will have to reduce his hours of labor to eight each day."

"We know of no reason why, if a reduction of the hours of labor invariably leads to an increased production of wealth, the conditions of the race should not be sufficiently improved by the general cessation of tiresome exertion."—New York Post, May 1, 1886.

"In this country and in England, where the concentration of capital is the greatest in the world, the productive capacity per capita is nearly two and one-half times that of the average in continental countries."—Guntton's Wealth and Progress.

BARACAS PLAN WORK

The Baraca boys of the First M. E. church of Glendale are planning big things for the coming winter along the line of entertainment, as well as the spiritual work. They are to hold a special called meeting Friday evening of this week for the purpose of reorganizing their club.

A committee has been appointed to formulate a ritual, which will be perfected and presented at the called meeting.

There is some talk of "goat riding" and various modes of initiation, etc., but further than this we cannot say as the boys are all true blue and cannot be persuaded to betray the obligation they are soon to take.

CARDINAL FERRATA DEAD

Cardinal Ferrata, the papal secretary of state, is dead. He was one of the prominent candidates for election to the papal throne as successor to the late Pope Pius X.

ALLIES PREPARE FOR AN OFFENSIVE ATTACK

The German army now occupies Antwerp and the commander of the troops that captured the city has issued the following proclamation:

"To the inhabitants of Antwerp: The German army has entered your city as conquerors. No citizen shall be harmed and your property shall be spared if you refrain from hostile acts. All refractoriness will be punished according to the laws of war and may lead to the demolition of your beautiful city."

The Anglo-French fleet off Dalmatia has sunk two Austrian torpedo boats, one of which was escorting a steamship laden with munitions of war.

German aviators continue to menace Paris with bombs.

The allies are said to be massing in Western Belgium preparatory to launching an attack.

No town can either be built up or maintained in the absence of public spirit. A man in a town who has no concern for the place except as it helps him make a little money, is like a cow that short circuits her milk and thus becomes the direct and sole consumer of all her product.

THE CALL OF THE COUNTRY

Rural life offers to young men days of toil and nights of study. It offers frugal fare and plain clothes. It offers lean bodies, hard muscles, horny hands and furrowed brows. It offers wholesome recreation to the extent necessary to maintain the highest efficiency. It offers the burden of bringing up large families and training them in the productive life. It offers the obligations of using all wealth as tools and not as means of self-gratification. It does not offer the insult of a life of ease, or aesthetic enjoyment, or graceful consumption or emotional ecstasy. It offers, instead, the joy of productive achievement, of participating in the building up of a higher rural civilization.

To young women also it offers toil, study, frugal fare and plain clothes such as befit those who are honored with a great and difficult task. It offers also the pains, the burdens and responsibilities of sacred motherhood. It offers the obligation and perpetuation in succeeding generations the principles of the productive life made manifest in themselves. It does not offer the insult of a life of pride and vanity. It offers the joys of achievement, of self-expression not alone in dead marble and canvas, but also in the plastic lives of children to be shaped and moulded into those ideal forms of mind and heart which their dreams have pictured.

Co-operative thinking is the biggest problem that confronts the farmer today.

No farmer can afford to buy a thing he can raise, no matter how cheap it is.

Co-operation is the force that keeps the wolf from the door.

Is your farm declaring dividends, or are you in the tenant class?

A farm is a business establishment, and should be so operated.

A farm should be operated for net, not for gross results.

The net results of good farming are profits, success, a growing business and a good living.

The farmer should take all uncertainty out of securities before applying for a loan.

What has become of the old-fashioned boy who used to run errands for a penny?

WHAT GOVERNORS LIKE TO EAT

Governor Colquitt of Texas shows a partiality for the well-known southern concoction, ambrosia. Mrs. Colquitt says:

The governor is a man of simple tastes as regards food. He eats plain food, for the most part preferring vegetables, and does not eat much meat, but is fond of chicken breast. He eats very little sweets, but likes ambrosia made according to the following recipe:

One large coconut, eight large oranges, one large pineapple, sliced, sugar to sweeten according to taste.

Grate the coconut, first removing the outer peeling with a sharp knife. Peel the oranges, removing as much as possible of the white pit. Split each section of orange lengthwise the pulp, breaking it as little as possible; eject any seeds there may be and all the tough inner skins, which are indigestible and would make the ambrosia bitter. Chop the pineapple to small bits with the scissors or a sharp knife.

Arrange the ingredients in a cut glass bowl, using first a layer of the orange pulp, then a layer of pineapple. Sprinkle sugar, continue the layers until all is used, leaving a layer of coconut at the top, then pour the orange juice and then the syrup from the pineapple over all.

Garnish with maraschino cherries and put in a cool place until ready to serve.

WASH MASS MEETING

Property owners of Glendale, Tropic and Casa Verdugo are invited to be present at a mass meeting to be held in the Union high school Monday evening, October 12, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing the importance of having the Verdugo wash improved under the county act as outlined in proceedings already commenced.

The wash problem is an important one in this community and the improvement of the same is not likely to meet with opposition by property owners when they understand the conditions. Persons who feel that it is unjust to have a general assessment for the improvement of the wash are especially invited to be present at Monday evening's meeting.

These Southern California Ranchers Bought 530 Acres in Milford Valley ON SIGHT!

H. S. Cook of El Centro says:

"I would not sell my raw Milford Valley land for $200 an acre today, if I could not get more, because I consider I can make it worth $250 or more in a very short time, when under cultivation."

Chas. Shanaman of San Gabriel says:

"I said before I went to Milford Valley that if this land was even 75% as good as represented, I would buy 40 acres. I found the land doubly better than I had anticipated, and I couldn't help but buy 80 acres."

Franklin Smead of Pomona says:

"I have spent many years of my life fruit-raising and farming—have visited every agricultural section of any prominence in the United States, and I have never seen anything to equal Milford Valley. I saw twenty-five-year-old Bartlett pears without a sign of blight, alfalfa fields said to be forty years old without re-seeding, that cut as high as two and a quarter tons an acre to the cutting—saw oat fields that the owners state have run as high as 115 bushels to the acre. In the new tract I saw land seeded to grain early in June, and on which by September 15th the owners had realized enough to pay for the land."

The greater majority of Milford Valley's sales have been made to successful, well-to-do farmers in Southern California's richest agricultural districts—who had located there because they thought they had the best that money could buy.

E. J. Hamil, Special Representative

Glendale Office with Clem Moore and Sam Stoddard
1010 West Broadway Phone 900, Res. 1065-J

calling upon Mrs. John Murphy and family while here.

Quite an excitement prevailed in the vicinity of Sixth street east of Grand View avenue last Saturday afternoon, caused by the burning of a large barn belonging to the Greenmeyer Nursery company. The Glendale fire company was called and in response was soon on the scene, the trip being made in record time, but arriving too late to save the building.

Mr. T. A. Robinson, who recently purchased the Gates property at 114 South Maryland avenue, and who has been remodeling and making extensive improvements to the property, left very recently on a business trip to Des Moines, Iowa, expecting to be gone at least two weeks.

Mr. L. W. Lyons and family, who have spent the past several months with Mrs. Lyons' parents in Los Angeles, are now happily domiciled in their own home at 1617 Ruth street, where they will be glad to welcome their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Dow and four children of Bellflower spent the week-end with Mrs. Dow's brother, Mr. L. F. Drake and family, of 1657 Ruth street.

Mr. S. F. Fay and family spent Saturday in North Glendale looking after property interests on Kenneth road.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Webb of 1333 Valley View road entertained with a prettily appointed full course family dinner Sunday. Covers were laid for twelve and among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Webb and little son, Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan and baby Jack of Los Angeles and Dr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Webb and two daughters of 209 North Maryland avenue. Of course a delightful time was enjoyed by this charming family.

Miss Idelle Pittman of Redlands was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Pittman of 1001 North Pacific avenue Sunday.

TO BOOM YOUR TOWN

Talk about it.

Write about it.

Elect good men to office.

Be friendly to everybody.

Keep your sidewalks in good condition.

If a poor man starts a project, help him.

If a rich man starts a project, encourage him.

Don't talk the town down to the strangers.

If you are rich, invest in something; employ somebody.

If a project to improve the town comes up, don't hoot—investigate.

Don't let your personal antipathies get away with your business judgment.

Follow the men who have the vim and energy to go ahead—and saw wood.

Be courteous to strangers who come among you, so they will go away with a good impression.

If you don't like your home town well enough to speak well of it, get out of it and make room for better citizens.

Always cheer on the man who goes for improvements. Your portion of the cost will be nothing but that which is right.

Don't kick at any proposed improvements because they are not at your door, or for fear that your tax will be raised fifty cents.

Don't be afraid to stick your hand down in your pockets for money to help a public enterprise. You owe something to the community for being so kind as to patronize you.

Don't! Don't!! Don't!!! For Heaven's sake, don't think that your ideas are the only correct ones as to what improvements are needed, and how they should be obtained.

THE RURAL PASTOR

Intelligent and Consecrated Leadership
the Need of the Hour.

By Peter Radford.
Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

The rural pastor has greater possibilities than any other factor in our national life. The rural civilization of the Twentieth Century has opened up a new world of activities for him. There lie before him unexplored continents of usefulness, unemployed forces of civilization and tremendous responsibilities such as have never before confronted the pastorate.

The need of the rural communities today is intelligent and consecrated leadership. There must be a marshaling of forces that build life, strengthen character and broaden vision. The pastor should deal with living problems. In addition to the service he now renders he should help us lift the market basket, hold out a helping hand to the farmer and develop the potential energies of the community he seeks to serve.

A More Useful Ministry.

The farmer needs the personal touch of the pastor. He seldom comes in direct contact with his hal- lowing influence, except when he is baptized, married and buried. We need to further extend Christian influence in the homes, as well as to spread the gospel in China; to in- struct our children in the art of liv- ing, as well as to convert the barbar- ian and the Hottentot, and we should devote our energy and talent to the solution of problems of our own lo- cality, rather than consume our en- ergies in fighting vice and ignorance beyond our borders. It is as impor- tant that we discuss from the pulpit, the building of macadam highways from the church to our homes, as that we preach of the golden streets of the New Jerusalem. It is as much a part of the duty of the pastor to exhort us to own a home while on earth as to inspire us to build a man- sion in the skies and that we should construct Christian character in our own community, rather than that we fight foreign sins in other lands. We want a religion we can farm by as well as die by.

Christian Influence Needed.

There is an emptiness in the life of rural communities and we want preachers who can weave into the social fiber, educational pastimes, profitable pleasures and instructive amusements. Too often we find the games of our young people a search for a suggestion in immorality and a stepping-stone to sin. The pastor should supervise the growing lives of young people, approve their amuse- ments, create expressions of joy and pleasure that makes for Christian character and bless their lives with Christian modesty.

The farm is the nursery of civiliza- tion, and the paragonage of all re- ligious denominations. Too long has the farm furnished the cities with their great preachers, until today the rural church is the gangway to city pulpits. The current should be re- versed. The power of the pulpit is most needed in the country where the fundamental forces of human life originate. The farm is the power- house of all progress and the birth- place of all that is noble. The Gar- den of Eden was in the country and the man who would get close to God must first get close to nature. Many communities are church-ridden. We frequently have three or four churches in a community with a circuit rider once a month preaching to small con- gregations and all fail to perform the religious functions of the community. In many instances, more harmonious effort might result in a more efficient service. The division of religious forces and breaking into fragments of moral effort are oftentimes little less than a calamity and defeat the pur- poses they seek to promote.

A pastor in a neighborhood, study- ing the economic, social, moral and educational problems of the commu- nity, presenting fresh visions of poten- tial possibilities and native power with beauty and new meaning, inter- preting the thought-life of the com- munity and administering to their daily needs, will contribute more to- ward the advancement of a locality than a dozen preachers who occupy the pulpits at irregular intervals, preaching on subjects foreign to the life of the community.

Church prejudice is a vice that saps much of the spiritual life of a community, and wasteful sectarian- ism is a religious crime against so- ciety. Denominational reciprocity should take its place. Non-support of church institutions and religious lethargy can often be traced to causes inherent with the church. There should be co-operation between churches and co-ordination of moral effort along economic lines, and there must be if the rural churches of this state are going to render a service which this age demands.

OUR LOVELY SOUTHLAND

Mr. R. D. Goss of 708 West Fifth street calls our attention to the fol- lowing poem written by a life-long friend of his, Mr. H. J. Vall of Pasa- dena, an old newspaper man who established the New Sharon, Iowa, Star and also the Pasadena Star. These verses may be sung to the tune of "Is Not This the Land of Beulah?"

When the sunbeams of the morning gild our mountain tops in gold,
And Nature's fairy fingers help each precious bud unfold,
Then the splendors of the Southland cover mountain, vale and hill,

Tinge the air with orange fragrance till the soul drinks in its fill,
And each breeze that sweeps the ocean, laden with the wine of life,
Sings through meadow, field and or- chard, fits each heart for labor's strife.

Oh, the state of California, far re- moved from winter's cold,
Where the cyclones never trouble, where no human heart grows cold;
Where we climb the granite moun- tains, where we sail the track- less sea,
Where we glide through blooming valleys, hearts and soul forever free;

Where our cities grow like magic, rise in beauty, wealth and pride;
Where the tourist comes for pleasure and the lover brings his bride.

Chorus—
Oh, this is the land of treasure and of men of greatest might;
Where is found the truest pleasures, if we seek to live aright;
Where God's blessings flow eternal, crown each morning, noon and night,
Where we roam through fields su- pernal, walk by faith as well as sight.

When the evening shadows gather on our green Verdugo hills,
And the mockingbird is singing with a melody that thrills,
Ocean breezes still are sweeping over mountain, vale and dell,
Sweep the slopes of Busch's gardens, climb the height of San Rafael;
Sweep through Linda Vista's or- chards, through Canada's fertile plain,

O'er the oaks of Monte Vista and Sierra's lofty chain.

When the sunlight still is gilding all our mountain tops in gold,
Then my brain and pulses quicken and in measured thoughts unfold,
Thoughts that love to fondly linger long where only Nature calls,
Thoughts that turn from cities' splen- dor, palace homes and marble walls;
Then my heart grows sweetly tender as it yearns for heaven's light,
And my trembling knees grow strong- er as I seek to live aright.

On the arches o'er the Seco, 'twixt the daylight and the night,
Where the songsters seek their nest- ings, never weary of their flight,
Then the silvery moonbeams quiver over hilltop, vale and lea,
While the stars are throwing kisses to the bright waves of the sea;
Then the dewdrops sweetly whisper love songs to the blushing rose,
And the blue waves of the streamlet lull the lily to repose.

Here no battle strife is raging, here each thought is one of love,
And alone the soul makes answer in the temple court above;

Oh, 'tis sweet to wait and listen, sweeter still to watch and pray,
As the night hours (winged ravens) close to all the light of day,
Close to bring again the morning, fresh and sweet with glowing health,
Greater than the gold of Ophir is the lovely, Southland wealth.

The sawbuck cure is a good cure for sedentary people.
